Pregnant?

WE’RE HERE FOR YOU.

PREGNANCY RESOURCE GUIDE

THE CATHOLIC UNIVERSITY OF AMERICA
STATEMENT FROM PRESIDENT KILPATRICK

Dear Cardinals,

A community is defined by how it supports its members, particularly in moments of great challenges. Here at Catholic University, we take our commitment to community very seriously. This means that if you are facing the challenge of an unanticipated pregnancy, Catholic University will be with you every step of the way.

We have a number of resources to offer, and a number of ways to help you find the support you need. If you would like to remain in your on-campus housing during your pregnancy, we will help you do so. We will assist you in continuing to progress towards finishing your degree. The Catholic University community will help you to meet all of your material, spiritual, and emotional needs.

You are a valued member of our Catholic University family, and you have been so from the moment you decided to join our community. That will never change. Please know that we are ready to support you.

Sincerely,
Peter K. Kilpatrick
President

“...consistent with its pro-life stance and its non-discrimination policies, the University encourages students who do become pregnant to continue their studies and retain their on-campus housing. Referrals for prenatal health care and other supportive services will be made available through appropriate University offices as necessary and requested. A caring outreach toward the prospective parent [or parents], on the part of all [residents and staff], is expected as an expression of a truly Christian and human spirit.”

Catholic University Student Handbook
If you’re reading this, you or someone you know may be facing an unplanned pregnancy. We’re here to tell you that unplanned doesn’t have to be impossible — and that Catholic University will be with you every step of the way.

“Be not afraid!” God repeats this phrase to women and men throughout the Scriptures as he prepares them to welcome new people into their lives, especially new children. With this greeting, God strengthens Abraham and Sarah, Hagar, and even the Virgin Mary the moment they learn that they will become parents. In each case, the Lord eases anxiety; he calms fear. “Be not afraid,” God says, “for I am with you and will bless you.”

The arrival of an unexpected new life brings with it a seeming mountain of unexpected changes. Anxieties grow around questions regarding the present and the future: Can I do this? Am I ready? Who will help me? “Be not afraid,” God says. Even now, He surrounds you with friends and family, with faculty and staff, with clergy and religious, all eager to help. You are not alone. “I am with you,” says the Lord. And so are we. The University community is ready to accompany and assist you.

We are here for you. That is my message to you on behalf of Student Affairs and the whole University. As a mother of two young men, I know well the joys and the challenges of pregnancy and parenting. But I’m mindful that each one of you — each and every parent — walks her or his own road of emotions and heartaches, joys and challenges. We at Catholic University are here to walk that road with you, if you’ll allow us to do so. You and your child are welcome here.

You are loved, and you will meet with support.

That is my promise to you.

Inside this booklet, you will find resources to support you through your pregnancy, both on and off campus, as well as other pertinent information for you to consider. And please know that my door is always open to talk with you during this season in your life and beyond.

Campus Support and Accommodations
ACADEMICS AND OTHER ACCOMMODATIONS

Academic Accommodations

All members of the University community are obligated to ensure that pregnant students are not denied or limited in their access to an educational program or activity. In order to facilitate any necessary accommodations, the University encourages students to disclose needs based on pregnancy as early as possible in the pregnancy.

Students should work directly with their instructors to determine modifications and support related to their pregnancy, including requests for extensions or absences related to their pregnancy or breaks for lactation. The Office of the Dean of Students is another resource for students and can help coordinate with instructors for academic accommodations, housing needs, accommodations related to furniture, classroom relocation, lab support if working with chemicals, and other possible accommodations related to pregnancy. The Dean of Students can also provide information on academic leave in the event that a student wishes to take a semester off from academic work, and can advise on retention of scholarships and other financial aid while on academic leave.

Maternity Parking

An expectant mother holding a valid Catholic University parking permit may park in convenient spots designated by signage for use by pregnant women, located in the following parking lots: Shahan/McGivney, McMahon, O’Boyle, and in the street parking on Divinity Way west of Caldwell Hall.
HOUSING

Catholic University On-Campus Housing

Students who become pregnant are welcome and encouraged to retain the campus housing, if they are comfortable doing so. Students may meet with Dean of Students’ Staff to discuss alternative housing arrangements (e.g., room and hall changes) to allow for the health and comfort of the expectant mother.
Off-Campus Housing

Crossway Montessori Communities
3015 Upton Dr., Kensington, MD 20985
301-929-2505

This non-profit offers affordable apartments in community-style living. The community offers a two-year program requiring attendance at Life Skills classes twice a week. There is also a required orientation. Beginning around three months of age, children may be cared for at an on-site Montessori school. Please contact the director for more information.

St. Ann’s Center for Children, Youth, and Families
4901 Eastern Ave., Hyattsville, MD 20782
301-559-5500 / info@stanns.org

St. Ann’s offers supportive housing for women and their children who can demonstrate financial need, and has conveyed its willingness to accept Catholic University students. The Faith House program on St. Ann’s property has eight private one-bedroom apartments with shared kitchen and living areas. Hope House residents live in single-family units with shared kitchens, bathrooms, and living spaces on the first floor of St. Ann’s main building. Residents of both houses can receive support services for employment, education, life skills, etc. Those living in Hope House have access to 24-hour supervision and mentoring.

Missionaries of Charity
3310 Wheeler Rd., S.E., Washington, DC 20032
202-562-6890 / Contact: Sister Maria Bernadette

Services provided: Homes for pregnant women based on availability. Women are welcomed into the community and live according to community guidelines (nightly dinners and observing curfew). The sisters are able to provide resources for adoption if desired.

CHILD CARE

Cardinals for Life Babysitting Network

Cardinals for Life maintains a network of students willing to provide independent childcare for student parents.

Child Care Access Means Parents in School (CCAMPIS)

CCAMPIS is a federal grant awarded to the Metropolitan School of Professional Studies at Catholic University by the U.S. Department of Education to assist parents and guardians in successfully completing their undergraduate study or graduate study by helping to fund childcare. For more information, email metro-ccampis@cua.edu.

BREASTFEEDING RESOURCES

Lactation Spaces

Catholic University provides wellness rooms on campus that are available for use for nursing or pumping. These rooms are located in McMahon Hall, Gowan Hall, and Maloney Hall. An additional wellness room is planned for the new building for the Conway School of Nursing.

Breastfeeding Center

The Breastfeeding Center is located in downtown Washington D.C., and also employs on-call lactation consultants who can come to your location. For more detail, visit the website at www.breastfeedingcenter.org.
ADOPTION

In many situations, adoption serves as a loving response to a difficult pregnancy. For more information on whether this is the right option for you, please consider speaking with counselors at the following places:

- Capitol Hill Pregnancy Center
- Northwest Pregnancy Center
- Missionaries of Charity

The online resource www.bravelove.org might also be of assistance as you consider whether adoption might be the right choice for you and your child.

Speaking with a counselor and/or minister may be helpful as you consider what is best for you and your baby. See pages 7 to 14 for more information.

Adoption “is a great work of love. When it is done, much is given, but much is also received. It is a true exchange of gifts.”

— St. John Paul, II
Having a child brings a significant shift in responsibility and identity. You may be experiencing feelings of both excitement and intimidation. The following are avenues of support for male students anticipating fatherhood.

Mentorship and Support

Members of the University administration and staff who are fathers are available to share about their experience and offer support during this time in your life. For more information, email Dean Jonathan Sawyer, sawyerj@cua.edu.

Spiritual and Personal Guidance

Priests and professional staff in the Office of Campus Ministry are available for individual appointments scheduled by phone call or email.

Counseling

Counseling services are available at the Catholic University Counseling Center, or off-campus through the St. Jerome Counseling program.

Post-Abortion Support:

Grief after abortion affects men too. Project Rachel and Rachel’s Vineyard provide resources for healing for men who have been involved with abortion in any way.

“Our world today needs fathers.”

— Pope Francis

“Trust in the LORD with all your heart, and do not lean on your own understanding. In all your ways acknowledge him, and he will make straight your paths.”

— Proverbs 3:5-6
“Hear and let it penetrate your heart, my dear little one: let nothing discourage you, nothing depress you. Let nothing alter your heart or your countenance. Also do not fear any illness or trouble, anxiety or pain. Am I not here who am your Mother? Are you not under my shadow and protection? Am I not your fountain of life? Are you not in the fold of my mantle, in the crossing of my arms? ... Is there anything else you need?”

— Virgin Mary to St. Juan Diego
